MARCH 24th, 1757. [Numb. 1188.]

The SOUTH-CAROLINA Gazette.

ADVERTISEMENT.

WHEREAS it is apprehended that several members of the Charles Town LIBRARY SOCIETY, who are considerably in arrear, do forbear to pay the several sums due by them, upon a supposition that they may hereafter be admitted as new members, upon easier terms: THIS is therefore to give notice, that every person who shall neglect to pay his arrears by the next quarterly meeting, on tuesday the 6th day of April, will then forever be debarred from being a member of the society, and of all property or interest in the society's stock books, &c. and can never be again received as a member of the society on any account whatever.

By Order of the President,
John Remington, Secretary.

LONDON, December 21.

THE foreign troops that are now in this kingdom (which it is said were brought over for the defence thereof) are to be quartered, and received and provided for in quarters, in every respect, and in the same manner to all intents and purposes, as the British troops are.

Utrecht, Dec. 2. We hear from Leipsic, that the chevalier de St. George's eldest son staid in that town 4 or 5 days, about the middle of last month, in his return from the Prussian army, going under the name of count Hamilton. His attendants were only one gentleman and 2 Swiss servants. It is said his passes were signed by the governor of Dresden.

Paris, Dec. 6. They write from Cadiz, that the Lion, in her voyage home from the south seas, discovered an unknown land. This vessel was then 54 degrees and 48 minutes south latitude. She coasted that land about 25 or 30 leagues, which seemed to be of such prodigious height as to be seen in fine clear weather at 60 leagues distance.

Polsania, Dec. 4. The affairs of Poland were never in greater confusion: His majesty has demanded a very considerable loan in ready money; the Russians a passage through the territory of the republic; and the king of Prussia, the succours due to him by treaty, with an intimation that, if any Russian troops enter Poland, the republic must expect to see their own dominions made the seat of war.

Hamburgh, Dec. 7. From the dispositions lately made by the Prussian troops distributed towards the frontiers of Courland, there is room to suppose that they may ere long penetrate into that dutchy, which has but few Russian troops in it at present.

Dantzick, Dec. 10. By the most authentic accounts, the king of Prussia has actually above 30,000 men in Prussia, and near 16,000 men in Pomerania. And we are assured that his Prussian majesty will march an army into Courland on the first advice of the Russians march towards Prussia.

Petersbourg, Dec. 3. As the motions of the Prussians seem to indicate a resolution to enter Courland, proper orders have been sent to our generals in those parts.

Brest, Dec. 12. The chamber of commerce at Marseilles are fitting out a squadron.

Paris, Dec. 13. It is impossible to express with what diligence the naval armaments are carrying on at Toulon. Upwards of 6,000 men are constantly at work.

Fresh Advices, by Capt. Rains from London: Who informs us, that the Day he left Spithead, a Confirmation of the Sentence passed by the Court Martial upon Admiral Byng, was expected; and that Hawke lay cruizing for Convoy, 16 French Privateers were taken and brought into Portsmouth.

ACcording to the Paris Gazette, on the 7th of January last, in the evening, as the French king was coming from the apartments of mesdames of France, in order to take coach for Trianon, a villain found means to approach his majesty, unperceived, and stab him in the midst of his guards, with a knife, between the 4th and 5th lower ribs on the right side, which penetrated in depth about the breadth of 4 fingers. For some days the king put the reins of government into the hands of the dauphin, but soon recovering, he resumed them again. The assassin was seized on the spot, and tortured, but made no material discovery: He was a native of Salle, a village near Arras; his name d'Amiens; had been in the service of several families in Paris, and at last, lived on Pont Neuf, and sold balls to take spots out of clothes.

Paris, Dec. 31. They write from St. Malo's, that 12 merchantmen are fitting out at the king's expence; that their crews are to consist of 50 men each, and are ordered to take in provisions for six months and an half. It's assured, that they are to carry troops to Louisbourg.

Plymouth, Jan 14. There is an express come to admiral Harrison, from his son Thomas Harrison, Esq; commander of his majesty's sloop of war Otter, that a privateer belonging to Biddeford had taken 8 French ships from St. Domingo, but some time after met a French privateer, who took the Biddeford privateer, and retook the 2 French ships; but capt. Harrison soon after falling in with them, engaged the French privateer, and took her, afterwards retook the 3 ships; and the Otter and her 4 prizes are all safe in Falmouth harbour.

London, January 18. The Revenge privateer, of Jersey, of 4 carriage guns and 28 men, has taken and carried in there, a French letter of marque ship, with 74 soldiers, and 25 mariners, besides 40 women and children, bound from Rochelle for Mississippi, loaded with provisions and ammunition for the king.

On friday several merchants waited on the lords of the admiralty, in order to obtain convoys, and were acquainted that convoys should be appointed for the places desired, and for any other place which they at any other time should desire.

There are near 70 sail of transports taken up by the government.

It is rumoured that the militia bill will be laid aside this year.

We hear, a bill will be brought into parliament for leave to import corn duty free.

We hear that a lottery will be granted for the service of the current year, which is to consist of a million of tickets, to be sold out at one guinea each.

We hear that the installation of four knights of the garter, will be at Windsor the 29th of March next.

The Dover man of war has taken and carried into Cork, (after an engagement of three quarters of an hour, in which 10 Frenchmen were killed) the Pondicherry, a French East India man, of about 1000 tons, 24 8-pounders, and 140 men, from Canton in China, laden with tea, china, rhubarb, silks, &c. An English pilot on board the Indiaman, gives an account, that 15 more sail'd at the same time with her, 12 of which are yet on their passages expecting to be met and convoyed home by the fleet that lately sail'd out of Brest, &c.

Yesterday came advice, that the Anti Gallican privateer, capt. Foster, had taken a French East Indiaman, said to be duke de Penthievre, after a very hot engagement, in which the French captain was killed, and several men on both sides. The privateer did not engage 'till she was near enough to fire her small arms into the cabin windows.

The Otter sloop, capt. Harrison, together with the Bostawen privateer, has taken a French man of war of 12 six pounders, had ports for 20, and 135 men, bound to the Mississippi, laden with provisions, arms, and bale goods on the king's account, after an engagement of near 4 hours ——This is the 8th or 9th ship with soldiers and military stores, from France for Mississippi, that has been taken by our men of war and privateers since the present war began: And since so many have fallen into our hands in that short space of time, and we have found the French remarkably successful in escaping our fleets, with their men of war and transports, is it any way improbable, that 4 times this number, have, in the same time, safely reach'd Mississippi and its environs? The pouring of troops into that quarter may be easily accounted for; so may the sending of arms, ammunition, and bale goods on the king's account: And whoever considers, what hath already happened on the borders of the British Northern colonies, from the embarkations for Louisbourg and Canada, may surely foresee some consequences in future to the South ern. 'Tis possible, some of the designs of the French in America, may be set aside for a while, by the vigorous efforts our mother country is making in favour of her colonies; but then, it is also possible, that as soon as they can collect a sufficient force, they will assiduously embrace every opportunity to distress us, as well as to embarass and disconcert our operations on the side of Canada. Let us therefore (and for the preservation of that religion, and those transcendant rights and privileges which we enjoy as Britons, and which are not to be enjoyed under a French government) as assiduously labour, and exert ourselves, effectually to disconcert and disappoint their schemes.]

On the 14th admiral Hawke arrived at Portsmouth, from Gibraltar, in a bad state of health.

London, January 20 It is said, next week a motion will be made for limitting the number of placemen in parliament.

It is generally supposed, that admiral Watt's expedition (whose squadron consists of the Magnanime, Namure, Invincible, Torbay, Essex, Swiftsure Chichester, Medway, York, Prince Frederick, and Eagle, and is to be joined by 4 more ships at Plymouth,) is in order to fall in with the other French India ships homeward-bound; should he be lucky enough to come across those ships and their convoy the Brest fleet, in what a glorious distress may we not soon hope to see the trade of our enemy.

The Arc en-Ciel, now at Halifax, lately taken by the Litchfield and Norwich, is commissioned, and the command given to capt Rous.

Portsmouth, January 21. The court martial upon admiral Byng is now over, every thing being done but the sentence being passed, which will be in a day or two; he told the court, that he would not give them any more trouble, and likewise said, that his not going down to engage with the enemy, was not owing to his want of courage in the least, but must be an error in his judgment.

London, January 22. We hear, that an express arrived this morning at the admiralty from Portsmouth, with advice, that the court-martial had capitally convicted admiral Byng.

We hear, that a captain of a man of war is suspended for his late conduct, and is to be tried by a court-martial.

We hear, that a train of artillery, and two companies of matrosses, are ordered to be shipped immediately on board the transports design'd for America.

So determined are the press gangs not to want men, that yesterday they took footmen from behind such equipages as were loaded with supernumeraries.

London, Jan 25. On the 21st his majesty was pleased to appoint the officers of the two Highland battalions to be raised for his majesty's service, when Archibald Montgomerie was appointed Lt Col. commandant of the first battalion, and Simon Fraser of the second.

We hear that Fraser's battalion is near complete, and the other in great forwardness.

We are assured, that admiral West's fleet has on board a considerable number of battering cannon, whence, and from other circumstance, 'tis highly probable the public is far from being apprised of its real destination.

Portsmouth, Jan. 23. Vice admiral West with his fleet sailed yesterday morning.

CHARLES-TOWN, March 24.

On Monday last arrived here a French Brigantine, called La Revenge, Antoine Olivier Master, from Mississippi bound for Rochelle, and laden with Skins, Indico, Logwood, &c. taken on the 10th Instant, in Lat 30:30, by His Majesty's Snow Tamaica, commanded by Capt. Thompson, with whom she parted with the 14th in a hard Gale of Wind, in 14 Fathom Water off this Bar.—The Vessels we told our Readers Capt. Thompson was left in Chace of some Time ago, proved to be 3 English Privateers.—On the 18th of February, he spoke with the Lyttelton Privateer of this Port, Capt. Vander, cruizing off Cape Nicholas, all well on board, but had not then taken any Thing.

By some of the Letters found on board the Jamaica's Prize, it appears, that a Mine has lately been discovered at Mississippi, more properly New Orleans; that they plant Canes, and make Sugars there preferable to those of the Cape; and that they are daily in Expectation of the Arrival of some Men of War. With Regard to the War on the Continent, one Letter contains Words to this Effect, "We are Masters "on the Side of Canada, &c. Virginia and Pennsyl- "vania are distressed. Most of the Indians are at our "Devotion: Their Villages are full of English Wo- "men and Children; those they will not part with for "Money or Goods: Five Men they have."

During the last Month, five French Privateers have been taken and carried to St Kitts and Antigua, by our Privateers: Amongst other, two by the Revenge of New York, one by the Spy of Philadelphia, and one of 4 carriage and 10 swivel Guns, after a hot Engagement of two Hours, by the Revenge of only 4 swivel Guns, commanded by Capt Thomas Stephenson, who had but 8 Men, with which he at last boarded the Frenchman, when he immediately struck. The same Stephenson, in August last, with a small Boat, took two Snows and a Schooner, richly laden, out of a homeward bound Martinico Fleet under Convoy of three Men of War.

On Tuesday last put back, after having been a Week at Sea, the Ship Andalusia, Capt Bradshaw, from this Port bound for Oporto; having sprung a Leak.

The same Day put in, leaky, the Snow Shirley, Capt. Paddock, from the Bay of Honduras bound for Holland.

The Peter & Mary, Capt. Fulcher, one of the Transport Ships that sailed from Cork the 6th of November last, put into Antigua the 10th of January, having on board 4 Officers and 158 Soldiers.

We have now certain Accounts of the following Vessels being taken by the French, viz

The Schooner Tryal, Robert Jones Master, of and for this Port, from Antigua; carried into St Thomas's.

The Sloop Good Intent, Alexander Pope Master, of and for this Port, from Barbados; carried into Guadaloup.

The Snow John, Capt. Wells, of Bristol, from Antigua, for this Port; carried into Martinique.

The Snow Adventure, Capt. Druitt, of London, from Gibraltar for this Port.

The Ship Henrietta, John Ross Master, from London, was taken on the 26th ult by two French Privateer Sloops, in Sight of St. John's Harbour in Antigua, whither she was bound, after a brave Defence for several Hours, in which Capt. Ross lost 3 Men. There were 9 other French Privateers in Sight at the same Time, cruizing just to Windward of Antigua.

The Jamaica (for which we have been in some Pain) with a Brigt. from Cowes, and a Sloop from New-York, are just arrived off this Bar.

Last Night came in the Northern Post, by whom we have no other News, than that the two Privateers sailed fitted out at Cape Fear, would be ready to proceed on a Cruize by the 10th of next Month: They are, the Brigt. Hawk, of 16 carriage and 20 swivel Guns, with 120 Men, commanded by Capt. Thomas Wright, and the Sloop Frankland, of 6 carriage and 10 swivel Guns, with 50 Men, commanded by Capt. Robert Ellis. ☞ The POST will set out on his Return Sunday Morning, and the Mail by Post Saturday Evening. 42
